

Life After Lockdown by Mrs Williamson

For months it seemed to be,
We were trapped and never free.
Our friends and families stayed away,
Keeping safe day by day.

School was shut and we stayed indoors,
But this gave us chance to all explore.
Learning at home and trying things anew,
Cooking and cleaning to name just a few.

Rainbows will appear and the storm will fade,
Memories are waiting just to be made.
We will be free to laugh and play,
Going where we want, every single day.

When this is over, we will shout and scream,
We will celebrate like it was all a dream.
Together we will remember how this made us feel,
Enjoying each moment and taking in what is real.
